September has been a month of progress, collaboration and meaningful engagement at Sedan Landbank. As we continue to transform land into sustainable opportunities, our focus remains on creating developments that contribute to economic growth, job creation and stronger communities. This month, we strengthened our engagement with stakeholders, explored opportunities within the digital economy and continued our commitment to sustainable land development. SCALING DIGITAL ASSETS FOR INVESTMENTS, JOBS AND ECONOMIC GROWTH

The digital economy continues to create new opportunities for investment, entrepreneurship and employment. Sedan Landbank recognizes the importance of embracing digital transformation as part of building a more connected and productive future. Through strategic partnerships, stakeholder engagement and innovative approaches, we continue to explore ways technology can support investment and unlock new economic opportunities.

Digital assets and technology-driven solutions have the potential to improve access to information, strengthen business operations and create new pathways for young people and entrepreneurs. For Sedan Landbank, innovation is not simply about adopting new technology. It is about using new ideas to create lasting value for people, communities and investors.

"Innovation creates possibilities; strategic action turns those possibilities into value."

EMPOWERING WOMEN, WELL-BEING AND SUSTAINABLE IMPACT

Empowerment begins with creating opportunities for people to participate, grow and make meaningful contributions to society. Sedan Landbank recognizes the important role women play in strengthening families, businesses and communities. Our commitment to sustainable development goes beyond physical spaces, it includes supporting initiatives that promote well-being, inclusion and positive social impact. Through partnerships and community-focused activities, we continue to support conversations and initiatives that contribute to a more inclusive and sustainable future.

SCALING AFRICA'S ETHICAL AI & INNOVATION ECOSYSTEM.

At Sedan Landbank, we believe Africa's future lies in combining innovation, responsible technology, and sustainable development. As Artificial Intelligence continues to reshape businesses, industries, and communities, there is a growing need for spaces that support innovation and create opportunities for people to thrive. Through thoughtful planning and forward-looking development, we aim to contribute to an Africa where technology and responsible innovation can translate into meaningful opportunities and lasting value.

PRODUCT PRESENTATION AT GHANA METEOROLOGICAL AGENCY

CONNECTING, ENGAGING, AND BUILDING PARTNERSHIPS
Sedan Landbank had the opportunity to present its products and engage with staff at the Ghana Meteorological Agency during its opening day. The interaction provided a valuable platform to introduce our offerings, connect with professionals, and share ideas around opportunities in land ownership and investment.

The engagement reflects Sedan Landbank's commitment to building meaningful relationships, creating awareness, and connecting people with opportunities that support long-term growth and value. At Sedan Landbank, we remain committed to making land investment more accessible while building lasting relationships with individuals, businesses, and communities.
